1. Introduction

All registered participants to the Offroad Finnmark race are obligated to have read, understood and accepted the rules of the race, including the terms of participation. The riders agree to the terms, rules and regulations by participating.

The rules of the race are created specifically for the Offroad Finnmark 150 km solo.

Offroad Finnmark 150 will from here on be referred to as «the race».

The race is created by Offroad Finnmark in collaboration with a range of local cycling clubs and other parties.

1.1 General information

The race is an individual competition.

The race consists of a 150km long single stage with a mass start. The race is available to riders of good physical health who are well prepared for the physical and psychological demands of a race like Offroad Finnmark.

The race has an adventure race profile. The single stage aspect leads to the competition running non-stop for 7 – 16 hours, a small amount of mandatory rest and the terrain is demanding. The track consists of mainly rideable trails, but there are some stretches of marsh and hillsides that force the riders to push their bikes.

All riders must follow the marked track using the GPS tracks and the maps achieved by the organizer. The last hundred meters there will be signs showing the way to the checkpoints.

All riders are expected to always display good sportsmanship, promoting a fair contest. The riders must not use offensive or abusive language during the race, act in an unsporting manner, be disrespectful to the officials, or ignore the race regulations.

The race takes place on both private and public land, on public roads and through rugged outback. The environmental perspective is of vital importance to the race administration as well as the riders. The race participants and the officials must do their utmost to ensure that they make as little impact on nature as possible before, during and after the race. This way we set out to ensure the most sustainable nature experience possible for the Norwegian bicycle sport.

3. Classes and requirements for completion

There are these classes M/F 17-19, M/F 20-29, M/F 30-39 M/F 40-49, M/F 50-59, M/F 60-69, M/F 70+

3.2 Requirements for approved completion

Riders must check in and check out of both checkpoints along the route regardless of plans to stop and rest. There is a mandatory 10-minute stop at both checkpoints.

3.3 Maximum race time

If it doesn't seem probable that the rider will be able to finish by the maximum race time, the rider will be forced to leave the competition.

The rider must always ride on the track to be approved

If the rider fails to comply with the race route, there will be an individually decided time penalty. If the rider repeatedly deviates from the race route and/or strays very far from the race route, the rider may be disqualified.

If it doesn't seem probable that the rider will be able to reach the finish line in Alta within the maximum stage time, the race jury may decide to cancel the rider's participation (DNF). The maximum stage time is noted in the checkpoint description information.

NOTE: The official racetrack may, due to weather conditions, be forced to make a shortcut at the end of the race. The Jury will take this decision during race and the last weather forecast will be taken into consideration. This will occur if weather conditions make it impossible for normal to strong teams to reach the official finish line at the maximum time limit. This kind of change of track will not inflict the riders' rights to claim prizes.

If this occurs, riders will be notified of changes to the route. Jury can make shortcut decisions in only one or two of the classes. E.G: Women can be forced (by the jury) to take a shortcut but Men must ride the original track.

3.4 Denied start

The race management may deny riders to start or continue the race. Reasons for this may be medical, equipment failure than can't be fixed, use of drugs and/or doping, exhaustion etc.

3.5 Official finisher

Any competitor that completes the race will be deemed an official finisher of the race.

3.6 Disrupted race participation

Riders who must withdraw from the competition must do so at the checkpoints. Exceptions can only be made in case of emergency and in accordance with the race administration/jury.

Participants deciding to withdraw are obligated to report their decision to the race management immediately.

If a participant can't be located during the race, a search and rescue operation will be launched. If the search and rescue operation turn out to be needless due to a participant failing to inform the race management of a decision to withdraw from the race, the costs of the search and rescue will be charged the rider(s) failing to comply with the rules of withdrawal.

Please note that informing a volunteer along the racetrack of a decision to withdraw does not qualify as complying with the rules of withdrawal. All participants choosing to withdraw are obligated to inform the checkpoint manager or the race administration of their decision.

5. Information meeting

There will be an information meeting before the race. The meeting is mandatory.

The information meeting topics will be the track, areas requiring special attention from the riders, dangerous areas, special challenges, weather forecasts and other information that's crucial to the riders and for completing the race. The information will be given by the race administration.

6. Race assistance

6.1 Private support

Private support is not allowed.

Participants can receive assistance from all the race officials and service units, both stationery and mobile. The main rule is that all service is to be provided at the checkpoints.

It's strictly prohibited for any participant to receive assistance from a third party between checkpoints. Breaking this rule will cause a minimum of 120 minutes time penalty at the first offense, and disqualification on the second instance. The exceptions are:

- Assistance at the official checkpoints during the race. The riders must check in before receiving assistance.
- Accidents where a participant has been injured. The race administration's ambulance team will come to the scene. In these situations, the rider must expect they will have to wait a while. If the injuries are deemed severe, the race administration will send for a helicopter.
- Riders can share/borrow/lend clothes/spare parts with each other
- Riders may stop and purchase food and drinks at “physical installations” such as grocery stores, gas stations and such along the race route.

6.2 Technical support

The technical support car will be available at some of the official checkpoints. The technical support car offers gear for maintenance work and adjustments. Parts cost standard retail prices and will be charged the rider after the race.

The technical support car will carry some of the most common spare parts such as chains, tires, tubes, knobs, bolts and wires. There will be tools available at all checkpoints for simple repairs.

7. Checkpoints

There are signs leading to the checkpoints as well being clearly marked on the maps. The riders are obliged to ensure they're checked in and checked out of each checkpoint. Riders will receive a 120-minute time penalty for each checkpoint they've missed checking in/out of. The checkpoints offer different degrees of service, the details of these are to be found in the checkpoint description information.

At all checkpoints, there will be ten (10) minutes obligatory stop. The riders themselves are responsible for these stops. The riders themselves decide how much time they want to spend at the various checkpoints; however, all riders must check in and out of all checkpoints. If a rider returns to the checkpoint after checking out it will be their first check-in time that is counting.

8. Traffic rules

8.1 Traffic rules

The race takes place on public roads and trails that are not closed off to use by others. In turn, all riders must adhere strictly to the applicable rules of the road (national traffic rules) – also if in a race situation. All regular Norwegian traffic regulations must be always observed during the race. The race takes place on private and public roads, paths, tracks and cart roads. All instructions by traffic marshals and race officials must be adhered to. All riders are obliged to yield for other traffic when on private tracks/paths as well as showing the utmost care when passing hikers/pedestrians. It is not allowed to ride on footpaths in cities and urban areas.

8.2 Right side driving

The traffic law of keeping to the right side of the road/track/trail applies. Riders cannot cut corners under any circumstances. All trail and road sections, particularly those with blind corners, must be ridden with utmost care, thus ensuring the safety of oncoming traffic and passing riders. Failing to comply with the right-side regulations can result in sanctions such as time penalties, demotion/degradation or the rider being banned from the competition. The jury will decide the individual penalty in each instance.

8.3 Passing slower riders

The slower riders must make way for faster riders who clearly intend to pass them; the passing rider must verbally or otherwise signal their intent. Slower riders must pay special attention to passing riders on steep sections where the slower riders might already be pushing/carrying their bikes.

8.4 Sportsmanship

Everyone must be considerate of fellow race participants, spectators, pedestrians and hikers crossing or passing the racetrack. Participants must not use offensive or abusive language during the race, act in an unsporting manner, be disrespectful to the officials, or ignore the race regulations. Inconsiderate riding and/or unfair behavior or actions will be subject to penalties. The precept of considerateness, sportsmanship and fairness applies to every participant.

8.5 Technical skills

Riders must operate their bikes within their means and capabilities. Participants should be prepared for sudden brake maneuvers at any time but especially on downhill sections and technically demanding terrain. Any rider that isn't conducting the race in a safe and timely manner can be excluded from the race.

8.6 Stopping while on the racetrack

In case of injuries or mechanical problems, it is imperative to get off the trail / road right away and initiate first response or repairs away from (race) traffic.

8.7 Risk assessment

All participants are bound to assess the risk they're taking in every situation. Blind corner tracks/roads, passing vehicles/bikes or pedestrians must be traversed with the utmost care. The roads are not closed off to other traffic, it's therefore vital that all riders expect meeting hikers and on-coming traffic. Be prepared to expect the unexpected.

8.8 Accidents

If a participant suffers severe injury, the rider must call both 113 and the race administration. Participants finding a rider having suffered severe injury are bound to stop and do their utmost to be of help. Awaiting helicopters and authorized emergency personnel, the rider must perform first aid using the first aid kits carried in their backpacks. If need be, emergency personnel can instruct the rider to perform the first aid on the phone. Riders that assist during an injury situation qualify for time reduction.

8.9 Sprint

In case of a sprint among riders in the finish area, it is prohibited to change lanes the last 100 meters before the finish line, wavering with the bikes to hinder a faster rider passing, or in any way block the competing riders.

9. Protests, jury, penalties

9.1 Protests

Any protests must be submitted in writing after the rider has crossed the finish line, within the allocated time, at the very latest 30 minutes after the official finish time. Result protests must be submitted along with an NOK 400 administration fee. If the protest is upheld, the deposit will be refunded. If the protest is not upheld, the deposit will be forfeited.

9.2 Jury

The race organizers will compile a jury that consists of 2-3 members. The jury will oversee result lists, race discrepancies and judge over any protest that has been filed. Race participants acknowledge that they accept and comply with any decision reached by the jury and relinquish any contention to dispute possible claims or entitlements further.

9.3 Penalties and sanctions

Only the race jury can decide on implementing penalties and sanctions on participants breaking the rules or behaving in any way that is damaging towards the race reputation, other participants or the sport itself. The race organizers' main goal is for as many riders to finalize the race as possible. A penalty in this context will therefore always be a time penalty in the first instance, unless the seriousness of the violation calls for an outright disqualification / exclusion as the only appropriate measure. Smaller breaches of the regulations are punished with at least 10-minute time penalty.

The following breaches of regulations will be reprimanded at least with a time penalty:

- Failing to check in/out at all the checkpoints (120 minutes)
- Failing to respect the 10-minute mandatory stops.
- Lack of respect for nature and the environmentally friendly profile of the race: improperly discarding garbage or other items
- Not carrying the mandatory backpack equipment
- Taking off a helmet during race activities
- Ride without wearing starting numbers
- Tampering with starting number or mounting them in violation of race rules
- Receiving assistance from a third party
- Inconsiderate riding / unfair behavior or actions
- Repeatedly and willfully taking shortcuts
- Thwart competitors

The following violations can lead to an immediate disqualification:

- Deliberately dangerous riding maneuvers especially when they jeopardize others, such as spectators and hikers.
- Hazardous riding maneuvers that may cause harm to animals
- Repeated breaches of the rules and regulations lead to time penalties.

9.4 Environmental aspects

Riders must always respect the environment, and no littering or damage to the environment will be tolerated. The race takes place in highly sensitive and vulnerable areas of wilderness. Any wrongful disposal of garbage or other items, in both private and public areas, will result in time penalties. Anyone who improperly disposes of garbage or any other article (including water bottles) outside of a check point will receive a time penalty of 60 minutes. If repeated, it will cause a 120-minute time penalty. The third penalty of this kind results in disqualification without recourse. All drinking bottles must be marked with the riders' names.

9.5 Doping

The race organizers of Offroad Finnmark distance themselves from anyone who, with the intention of procuring any kind of performance advantage, ingests or otherwise uses in whatever way unlawful substances or stimulants. A reasonably justified suspicion suffices for an immediate disqualification from the race in this context. The race organizers reserve the right to perform unexpected and unannounced doping tests on all riders. Refusing to submit to testing will lead to immediate exclusion from the race and the participant being stricken from the result records. All test results will be forwarded to the national cycling federations. Positive results will lead to the participant having to return all prizes received and a lifelong ban from Offroad Finnmark.
